With the 2012 high school football season coming to a conclusion, ISD will be keeping you up to date with who the Notre Dame's commitments will be playing on a weekly basis and also giving you the final results of those games on Mondays.

2013 Commits

Torii Hunter, Jr. WR Prosper:

Hunter Jr. and the Eagles (10-2) will start the third round of the playoffs on Saturday when they face Lancaster (11-1).

Both teams seem to be mirror images of each other and this should be a tremendous game.

These teams didn’t play each other last season.

John Montelus OL Everett:

The Everett Crimson Tide (10-1) will go for the championship Saturday in Gillette Stadium when they face undefeated Barnstable (13-0).

This is going to be a heavyweight battle for the ages up in Massachusetts.

This will be a pairing of high potent offenses going up against seemingly immovable defenses.

Barnstable handed Everett their only loss of the season this year by squeaking out a 13-7 win.

Isaac Rochell DE Eagle’s Landing Christian:

Eagle’s Landing Christian (10-1) will be going up against defending champions Savannah Christian (8-3) tonight.

On paper this looks like E.L.C.A will win by a landslide and Rochell and 2014 Irish recruit Andrew Williams are as ready as ever, but they know they can’t overlook their opponents.

These teams didn’t play each other last season.

Alex Anzalone LB Wyomissing:

Wyomissing (13-0) will continue their playoff march on Saturday when they match up with the Danville Ironmen (11-2).

Again on paper this looks to be a fairly easy victory for Wyomissing and if the Iromen can’t figure out how to stop Anzalone it might get ugly quick.

These teams didn’t play each other last season.
